

Editors and Contributors

About the Editors

Julien Bobineau is a researcher and lecturer at the University of Würzburg's Institute for Romance philology in Germany. His fields of research are colonial discourses in francophone countries, postcolonial literature theory and storytelling in recent TV series. He obtained the Master's degree in 2012 with a thesis about Patrice Lumumba's representation in Aimé Césaire's drama Une saison au Congo.
✉ julien.bobineau@uni-wuerzburg.de

Philipp Gieg is a researcher and lecturer at the University of Würzburg's Institute for Political Science and Sociology in Germany. As a scholar of the German National Merit Foundation he obtained a Master's degree in Political Science and Sociology, a Diploma in Law and a certificate of studies of European Law from the University of Würzburg. He specialises in Africa's international relations and Indian foreign policy, particularly Indo-African and Sino-African relations, as well as German and European Foreign Policy.
✉ philipp.gieg@uni-wuerzburg.de

Both editors are members of the University of Würzburg's Forum Africa Centre (go.uniwue.de/faz) which provided support to make this publication possible. The Forum Africa Centre is an association of researchers at the University of Würzburg, Germany, who have been working closely for many years with partners in Africa. Its objective is to connect researchers, to foster research cooperation and to make it known to the public. Julien Bobineau and Philipp Gieg are co-founders of the Forum Africa Centre's young academics section Young Africa Centre which publishes the Young Africa Centre Series (Schriftenreihe Junges Afrikazentrum), an online journal for junior researchers and excellent students, and hosts regular events (go.uniwue.de/jaz).

Contributors

Raymond Achu Samndong is a PhD fellow at the Department of International Environment and Development Studies of the Norwegian University of Life Sciences. He is conducting his PhD research on environmental governance and climate change focusing on the legitimacy of local REDD+ governance structure(s) in REDD+ pilot project development in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. His research interests focus on: Tropical Ecology, Environmental Governance and Politics; Forest Management; Rural Livelihoods and Climate Change Mitigation Strategies. He has experience and has engaged in different research initiatives in Cameroon and the DRC.

✉ raymond.samndong@nmbu.no, rayasboy@yahoo.com

Alain Bapolisi Murhimalika is a Congolese Pharmacy student at the Official University of Bukavu (UOB), Democratic Republic of the Congo. He is a BEBUC scholar and a guest student at the University of Würzburg. He is the speaker of BEBUC scholars in Bukavu and the president of the Pharmaceutical Students' Association of UOB.

✉ alainbapo@yahoo.fr

Kwang-Su Kim is an HK professor at the Institute of African Studies (IAS), Hankuk University of Foreign Studies (HUFS), South Korea. He received his MA and PhD degrees from the Department of History at North-West University in South Africa. His research is focused on afrocentrism as the new paradigm of African Studies. He has been studying the Bakongo people of the Democratic Republic of the Congo since 2013.

✉ afrikaans@hanmail.net

Raoul Kiyangi Meya was born in Lusanga, Democratic Republic of the Congo. After high school, he entered the Order of the Discalced Carmelites. He made his philosophical and theological studies in Bukavu, Kinshasa (both Democratic Republic of the Congo) and Yaoundé (Cameroon) before leaving for Germany where he obtained his doctorate in Theology at the Julius-Maximilians University Würzburg. He is currently working for the diocese of Würzburg.

✉ raoulkiyangi@hotmail.com

Lukas Lemm is currently acquiring his Master's degree in Political and Social Sciences at the University of Wuerzburg. His main fields of interests are the research of statehood, democracy and development policy.

✉ lukas.lemm@stud-mail.uni-wuerzburg.de

Mumbanika Mbwisi Dady is a senior lecturer (chef de travaux) at the University of Kikwit, Province of Bandundu, in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. He has a Master of Laws (LL.M) in Human Rights Law at the University of Cape Town in the Republic of South Africa. His LL.M dissertation focused on "The implications of the right to health for the Democratic Republic of Congo in relation to access to medical service and medical care." His areas of research interest cover the field of human rights law with a focus on the right to health, constitutional law and customary law. Mumbanika Dady is currently an international PhD candidate at the Friedrich-Alexander University of Erlangen-Nürnberg, Germany. He is working on the issue of access to medicines from a human rights perspective in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the United Republic of Tanzania.

✉ mumbanikadady@gmail.com

Christoph Mohamad-Klotzbach is a researcher and lecturer at the University of Würzburg, currently working on his PhD thesis. His research focuses on the study of political cultures, democratisation and statehood.

✉ ch.mohamad@uni-wuerzburg.de

Alice Mufungizi Nabintu holds a PhD thesis in Rural Economics at the Université Catholique de Louvain, Belgium. Presently, she is a professor (Dr) in Economics at the Université Catholique de Bukavu, Democratic Republic of the Congo. She has also been a researcher at the LEAD (Laboratoire d'Economie Appliquée au Développement) since November 2004. Her contribution was written in collaboration with Anne Aksanti Mpangirwa and Leonidas Sifa Njangala who have graduated (bac+5) in Rural Economics at the Université Catholique de Bukavu, Democratic Republic of the Congo.

✉ mufungizi.nabintu@ucbukavu.ac.cd

Di-Kuruba Dieudonné Muhinduka is an economist (Université de Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of the Congo), has a DEA (Diplôme d'Etudes Approfondies) in Sciences of Population, Environment and Development and a PhD in Political and Social Sciences of the Université catholique de Louvain, Belgium. He is a professor of undergraduate economics and development courses at the Institut Supérieur de Développement Rural de Bukavu, and at the Faculty of Economics and Management of Université Catholique de Kinshasa and the Faculty of Economics and Management of Université Evangélique en Afrique. Dieudonné Muhinduka is also a consultant for public administration and an instructor for civil servants.

✉ celiadeo@yahoo.fr

Isidore Murhi Mihigo graduated in Agricultural Economics from the Université Catholique de Bukavu (UCB), Democratic Republic of the Congo. Since 2013, he has been working as an assistant at the Faculty of Economics and Management of UCB. He is also a junior researcher at the Laboratoire d'Economie Appliquée au Développement (LEAD) working within the Faculty of Economics and Management at the same university. He is interested in the economics of education, rural economic and rural development activities. Isidore Murhi Mihigo is responsible for the cell consultancy in Kivu Global Development Initiative (KGDI), an organisation that recruits, trains and strengthens capacity graduates before finding and orienting them to a job opportunity.

✉ isimumi2000@gmail.com

Fernand Numbi Kanyepa holds a PhD in Sociology, University of Lubumbashi, Democratic Republic of the Congo, and is Professor of Labour Economy. He is also the Vice Dean of Research at the Faculty of Social Sciences and in charge of the faculty office for international cooperation. He is also an associate researcher at the CEPAC (Centre d'études socio-politiques pour l'Afrique centrale), Democratic Republic of the Congo, and the Pôle-Sud, University of Liège, Belgium.

✉ kanyepa@gmail.com

Agathe Plauchut is completing a PhD thesis at Sciences Po Aix, France, about the humanitarian-security nexus in the Great Lakes since 1986. She also studies political evolutions and international involvement in the region. She is an associate researcher at the CReA, France, and the GRIP, Belgium.

✉ agathe.plauchut@gmail.com

Oliver Schlenkrich is a researcher and lecturer at the University of Wuerzburg, currently working on his PhD thesis. His main research interests are the measurement of democracy, democracy theory and the quality of statehood.

✉ oliver.schlenkrich@uni-wuerzburg.de

Nina Sophia Steinitz is preparing her PhD project on the EUPOL RD-Congo mission's impact on local security provision in community policing contexts and has published scholarly papers on the interaction between local security governance and external engagement in the DRC. After several years of working experience in German and international NGOs, she is now working as editor and project manager for DRC related topics at JournAfrica.

✉ nina.steinitz@posteo.de

Jyoti Tyagi is a senior research fellow of PRIASA (Policy Research Institute of African Studies Association of India), New Delhi, India. She is also Editorial Associate of Diaspora Studies Journal, New Delhi, India.

✉ jyotityagi.jnu@gmail.com