CONTENTS

Introduction........................................................................................................................................1
  Johannes A. van der Ven and Hans-Georg Ziebertz

Between Sanctity and Depravity: Human Dignity and Human Rights in Classical Lutheran Perspective................................................................. 9
  John Witte

Rights, Resistance, and Revolution in the Western Tradition:
  Early Protestant Foundations..................................................................................... 25
  John Witte

Human Rights in the History of the Roman Catholic Church.............................. 55
  Rik Torfs

(In)compatibility of Religion and Human Rights: The Case of Islam ...... 75
  Ruud Peters

Religion, Personality and Human Rights: An Empirical Study
  among Adolescents in England and Wales Distinguishing between Religious Identity and Textual Authority among Christians and Muslims ............................................................................................ 97
  Leslie J. Francis and Mandy Robbins

Religion and Attitudes towards Euthanasia and Abortion
  An Empirical Study among Young Christians and Muslims in Germany.................................................................................................................. 119
  Hans-Georg Ziebertz and Marion Reindl

Attitudes towards Human Rights and Religiosity: A Case of Turkish Adolescents.............................................................................................. 145
  Üzeyir Ok and Selim Eren

Towards a Legitimate Role of Religion in the Domain of Socioeconomic Rights
  An Empirical Study among Adolescents in North West
  European countries .................................................................................................. 165
  Johannes A. van der Ven
Public Significance of Religion with regard to Socioeconomic Rights in the Multireligious Context of Tamil Nadu, India .......... 203
Francis-Vincent Anthony

Religion and Attitudes towards Socioeconomic Human Rights
An Empirical Study of Young Adults in Norway ................................. 243
Pål Ketil Botvar

List of Contributors .................................................................................. 265

Index ........................................................................................................... 269

Empirical Research in Religion and Human Rights

Human Rights and the Impact of Religion
JOHANNES A. VAN DER VEN & HANS GEORG ZIEBERTZ

This volume is about the impact of religion (beliefs and practices) on attitudes towards human rights of the first, second and third generation. The first four chapters about the impact of Lutheranism, Calvinism, Catholicism and Islam are historical and theoretical in character. The six other chapters are based on empirical research in England and Wales, Germany, Turkey, India, Norway and on comparative empirical research in six North-West European countries. From both groups of articles it appears that ‘the’ impact of religion does not exist. In varying historical periods and contexts various religions, e.g. religious denominations, have various effects on attitudes towards human rights, i.e. positive effects (+), ambivalent effects (±), no effects (0), and negative effects (–).

Hans-Georg Ziebertz, Ph. D. theol. 1990 Nijmegen, PhD theol. Tübingen 1999, is holding the chair of Practical Theology / Religious Education at the University of Würzburg, Germany. Recently he published books on Youth in Europe, Gender in Islam and Christianity, and on Religion and Human Rights (Menschennahrung, Christentum und Islam, LIT, Münster 2010).