Lecture
“Corporate Strategy”
(12-M-UGF2, Master program, 5 ECTS, Winter 20/21, in English language)

Background
It is evident in examples, such as ReWe and Electronic Arts, that companies (and public sector organizations) with smart strategies outperform other companies and survive longer in the face of environmental turbulence. Having a well-developed strategy helps orchestrating critical resources, gives employees direction and sense, and can ultimately generate sustained competitive advantage in battled marketplaces. Knowledge about designing and implementing strategies at all levels, from the top management to functional levels, is therefore essential. This theory-led and application-oriented module provides you with critical knowledge and skills related to corporate strategy—essential for anyone aspiring to take on leadership roles in their future career, may it be in the private or public sector.

On successful completion of the module you will be able to: (1) make judgements about the organizational and managerial implications of corporate strategy, (2) assess the role of corporate strategy for creating and sustaining competitive advantage, (3) systematically choose between different routes of action, and (4) create and evaluate corporate strategies.
